

"How Social Networking Changes Our Lives"

I wonder hows your day today, well I hope you're still up til now, and Hi! good afternoon. Have you ever wonder what we are now if these social networks aren't here today? Now, we will know how social networks changes our lives.

I think we all do appreciate the things in social networks, it helps a lot, expand businesses, and help people to communicate someone. This also helps our government to monitor places through internet, and also making this as a source of entertainment for somebody needs it.

In this world, the only constant thing is what we called change. What we are now is different from yesterday or tomorrow. Social networking, from time to time changes our lives. This maybe negative or in a possitive way. The thing is, because of that change, things in life are now more efficient and better compaired on what we have on the past.

We know that time changes right? Therefore, we will expect more changes in our lives in the future, because we need change for the better, and maybe that change may rescue us from the burden of what we have experienced.

How about you? Do you like to get change? or be the same who you are in the past? Why settle for less?
